SAD ACCIDENT.

Another Victim to the Careless Handling of Firearms.

The Louisville Courier-Journal of the 6th inst. says:—

A most distressing accident, by which a young man lost his life at the hands of his friend and companion, occurred about 8 o'clock yesterday. Andrew Mack has kept for several weeks a full-grown bear chained in his back yard, insulating a suitable time to butcher it. It being known to several in the neighborhood that yesterday afternoon was selected for that purpose, Henry Resch, Fred Hoser, and two or three others went to Schack's to participate in the frolic. Hoser and Resch were to have the first chance at the brute, the former providing himself with what is known as a target rifle, and the latter with a long-barreled shot-gun. It was agreed that Resch was to shoot first, and in the event of his simply wounding the bear, Resch was to use his shot-gun. In manœuvring for a position, and getting into a favorable light, the rifle was accidentally discharged, the ball—a conical one—entering the right leg of Mr. Resch, and lodging in the left groin. It secondly was holding the rifle at arm's length in front of his body, and had sent some one to make the bear change his position, the better to insure a dead-shot. Mr. Resch, Mr. Hoser, and the bear were occupying the three corners of a triangle with reference to each other, and only a few feet apart when the gun was discharged. The bear was occupied with the sight of his friends and physicians, the wounded man died in just two hours after being shot, never recovering from the shock and loss of blood during the interval. His father and brother were unaccountable when he died, and their grief was uncontrollable. Hoser was at once arrested and lodged in the station-house, where he remained until assembled about dark, returned a verdict of death by accidental causes.

A MIXED DISTILLERY CASE.

Verdict of $50,000 Against a United States Marshal.

A case of considerable interest, as concerns distillers and as affecting the authority of United States Marshals, as well as involving the jurisdictions of Circuit and Federal Courts, was recently developed in Haywood county, Tenn. It appears that some months since Colonel Eaton, United States Marshal for West Tennessee, had recently developed the case of Mr. E. S. Reed, of Haywood county, upon the charge of being an illicit distiller, and finally succeeded, after much trouble and annoyance, in capturing him. When arrested, he promptly gave bond for appearance for trial, and, being released, returned to his home. Thinking that he was not in an informal one, Mr. Reed brought suit in the Haywood Circuit Court for damages against Colonel Eaton, an United States Marshal, laying his loss to health, wealth, and feeling at the loss of his son. Upon being notified of the suit, Colonel Eaton procured a writ of certiorari, bringing the case into the United States Courts. The Haywood Circuit Judge refused, however, to recognize the writ, and going on with the case, did a few days since give judgment against Eaton in the sum of $50,000, the amount claimed. It is thought that the verdict will be set aside, and it is averred that the proceeding under both the Circuit Court and Mr. Reed liable to arraignment before the United States Circuit Court. As the case and surroundings now stand they are rather mixed and complicated, involving clearly the jurisdiction and supremacy of the two courts.

LUDWIG LOWE.

Death of the Famous German Actor.

Ludwig Lowe, a celebrated actor attached to the Austrian Court Theatre, died recently in Vienna. On the 9th of February, 1871, he had completed 70 years of his connection with the stage. On that occasion the Emperor of Austria gave him a costly diamond ring upon which was graven his Majesty's initials. Lowe was once playing "Carl Moor," in Schiller's "Robbers," in Prague, where "Carl" arouses the robbers and cocks his pistol, by some accident the pistol was discharged, shattering the fourth and fifth fingers of the actor's hand. But he did not falter or blanch for a moment. He went through the remainder of the scene with all his accustomed force and precision, and the moment that the curtain fell he fainted, overpowered by the intense pain. The surgeons who examined his hand declared that the sinews of the little finger were so badly injured that it would never again recover its natural pliancy, and put the question to him whether he would have it healed straight or crooked. "Crooked, of course," exclaimed Lowe, without a moment's hesitation. "How would it be?" asked the doctor. "As if it were a supposed passion, and with my little finger sticking straight out in front like a unicorn's horn? It would ruin the situation entirely!" And crooked it was. He had three or four particular roles in which he appeared at the Hofburg Theatre alone 3700 times.

A frightful tale of marine disaster comes from the Washah Canal. The Green Rabbit sank the Dead Beat in a collision, but the crew were taken off by the Tobacco Foxy.

Twenty-five of the leading clergymen of Chicago have inaugurated a movement to hold public temperance meetings at Farwell Hall Sunday afternoon.

A flock of wild geese flew over Tinnsville the other day, and were shot by a party. This is the cutting "sure sign" that winter is over, or will be by the last of July.

The Boston Post has the following report:—"The person who sent us a copy of the Boston Post with 'Jackass' written upon the margin is requested to inform us at what stable he can be found."
